

Malala Yousafzai

Malala once said: "There are many problems, but I think there is a solution to all these problems; it's just one, and it's education."

who is Malala?

You may ask: "Who is Malala?" Well, she is a Pakistan girl who supports girls' education. She is the youngest noble peace prize winner. She wrote a book named "I am Malala".

standing out for girl's education

She began to write her own blog in 2009 which recorded her daily life. One of them said that there were less girls in her school every day, and how the Taliban banned girls from school. She became well known, but more dangerous.

When somebody asked if she had thought about the Taliban coming to get her, then she replied: "I think of it often and imagine the scene clearly. Even if they come to kill me, I will tell them what they are trying to do is wrong, that education is our basic right."

survived a murder

On 9 October 2012, a Taliban gunman shot Malala as she rode home on a bus, other girls on the same bus were harmed too. But fortunately, Malala survived and was cured.

1997

Malala was born in Pakistan

2009

Malala made a blog about her daily life

2012

Malala got shot, but survived

2020

Malala graduated from college