Social issues - World War II, mistrust between Soviet Union & America.

Central Ideas - Developing an atomic bomb by winning the world war.

Themes - the historical story of the dangerous atomic bomb.

The author uses historical information/facts and real life people's quotes to communicate the idea of the journey of the atomic bomb.

The story doesn't reveal anything about the author, and my perspective changes throughout the story depending how the story is going, for example during Norway-connection, when the "gangster" schooled students landed outside of Norway it gave me a rather bad and mistrustful perspective of the students.
