

Renaissance Humanism

Explanation of Humanism

Humanism was a religion started in the Renaissance, they believed that people could change their lives by working, they didn't think that people are born with crimes. They learned from the Greek and Roman and was made by secularism, individualism, and other.

4 Secularism

Do not give any comments, it emphasizes the separation of country and faith, as freedom and tolerance for all religion.

Question everything 4

Humanism was curious about everything, just like Socrates. They learn from the Greek and Roman which make them more open-minded.

5 Dignity of man

The concept of human dignity is the belief that everyone has their own value. It was not related to their class, race, gender, religion, ability, or other factor that achieve themselves.

Individualism 4

Individualism is a part of humanism, they believe that people should put themselves in the first place, and they think that being an egoist is not bad. Individuals are more equal comparing to feudalism.

Renaissance Humanism

I think I am a Renaissance Humanist because I agree with most of the ideas of humanism. Humanism was a highly tolerated religion, they believed human were not born with crime and they had the ability to change their class. Also, the point I really like about humanism is that they think people can have dignity no matter their race, class, religion, or gender. Humanism was a very freedom religion, they tolerated and learned. I am 87% of humanism.
