Read Aloud (Narrative + Information)

NO.

DATE D.E

Information

- Media inaccuracy

"The Daily Journal Printed less than 5% of Lizzie Borden's testimony reducing the number of words from 15,535 to 651." (S. Miller 79).

Filtering out and distoring Lizzies "State of mind."

Key vocabulary: The Bordens, vocab, evidence, murder, hatchet, court, trial, verdict, revelations, testimony

Central Ideas: 1. Media always has a bias, 2. people are innocent until proven guilty.

Supporting details: The media Blew up the incident and got many People involved.

- Andrew Borden was a wealthy man with (a networth of) $10 million as of today.
- Lizzie had quarrels with Abby Borden previous to the murder.

Narratives

Central Ideas

Theme: Murder mystery, investigations, Crime,

Hidden issues = Stereotypes against women

In the book, there are constant stereotypes regarding Lizzie, John Cunningham, a reporter claimed how she was; "rather peculias for a lady". (40). & That "There was not the least vidication or agitation, no sign of sorrow or grief, . . . Lizzie Borden became the main Suspect." (20).

Many sexist themes get shown, of how she was Something "for a lady" indicating how there is a certain way for a woman to behave, and how There is a prejudice of how women should be highly emotion and is expected to publicly show signs of grief, in order to prove how she feels.

Motivations and conflict = Lizzie Borden becomes the prime suspect for the murders. Legal teams have a hard time proving her guilty.

Lizzies alledged traits = Very bad tempered, "ugly, peculiar, odd" flawkness, straightforward.